These, it is understood, are being vacated by the medical people and the remnant of cavalry is preparing to move back into its old quarters. The general hospital, it is stated, is to take considerable part in the demobilization of units which will come to the park for that purpose in a short time. Men who fall to pass the rigid physical examination which is given preparatory to honorable discharge will be consigned to the hospital for treatment. In some instances it will require time and careful attention before the soidier will be in fit shape to return from army to civilian life. This will mean that the hospital will be maintained for some time to come. The present force will also be retained in all probability, since the is spital is expected to be kept full up as long as it is maintained in connection with the demobilization work. He wrote interestingly of life "ove He wrote interestingly of life "over there" and his father eagerly looked forward to his letters, for his heart was wrapped up in the brave young soldier. The sad intelligence of Thursday was a terrible shock to the fond father and other loved ones. Willie Light was popular among a heat of Triends. He was convenial host of friends. He was congenial, big-hearted and endowed with a pleasant, sunny disposition. He sought to see the bright side of things, and when the call to service came he quickly responded and of-fered his young life willingly and gladly as a sacrifice toward making the world safe for democracy. Shortly after the armistice was signed he wrote homefolks that he was in good health. After braving the poisonous gas of the Huns, facing their shot and shell and escaping their shot and shell and escap-ing their hellishness, he fell a victim of the dread influenza which has claimed so many khaki-clad men. The deceased was a brother of Misses Mollie, Maude and Annie Light and a nephew of Patrolman Sam Light, Detective Will Light, Joe, Tom and Green Light.

REAL ESTATE MEN WANT ANNEXATION

MEETING OF EXCHANGE AT LUNCHEON TODAY.

Lavor Levee, New Auditorium and General Expansion of City's Activities.

Like other civic organizations, the members of the Chattanooga real estate exchange stand behind the movements for a new auditorium, a new high school and better school system and a greater Chattanoga to a man. In addition the exchange is very much interested in the building of the levee which will protect the city from floods for all future time when it is once erected, and a committee from the exchange is preparing data upon the cost, land it will redeem, the increase in property values, etc. The exchange met in regular monthly session at noon for lunch at the Read house. It was the initial meeting of the new year and all those present were enthusiastic over the prospects for a year of im-provements and plenty. The meeting was perhaps the most generally atended of any meeting held by the organization in some time, practically every real estate firm being C. W. Howard, chairman of the industrial committee of the chamber of commerce, was present and gave some interesting figures showing the advantages of a city with extencive boundaries. Mr. Howard said that there was hardly any use in discussnooga, for all business men are of one mind. The city of Atlanta embraces within its limits 36 square miles, Birmingham 49.5, Knoz 26, Memphis 21, Nashville 19 Chattanooga only 6.7 square miles. To increase the radius of the city limits would of course increase the population, which would in turn be of great advantage. He estimates that to include the suburbs would bring the city's population up to approximately 105,000. Cities with a population less than a hundred thousand are not even considered by the government in establishing offices, headquarters and other departments. He also pointed out that the greater the area the less per capita does it cost to maintain the city government. Then there were other reasons for annexing the adjacent territory, such annexing the adjacent territory, such as policing them, putting in a sanitation system and such things.

Heretofore, Mr. Howard said, the manufacturers had always blocked the movement for annexation. In other cities this same thing had occurred and in some instances a line was drawn by the objectors but in every instance they had applied for admission on account of fire protection and policing in a very short time.

Many of the men favored annexing the suburbs, including the territory to the Georgia line in Rossville. Among this class was T. R. Preston, who was present at the meeting and delivered a very strong appeal for a bigger Chattanooga, a city of 200,000 by 1930, along the lines of his talk to the Kiwanis club some few weeks ago. Mr. Preston said that the war had broadened our horizon and that we must go forward. We cannot go back to the oid line and the old ways for they have been swept aside. They are no more. He pointed out how much Tennessee had done toward the winning of the war and how much she had given and loaned for its prosecution. He orged that the peopie keep just a little of that enthusiasm and employ it toward a bigger and better city. loy it toward a bigger and better city. He said that an auditorium would be He said that an auditorium would be the first step toward a better city.

"Why must we wait for committee reports?" queried Mr. Proston. "Wny can't the committee say 'this is the site we have chosen, this is what it will cost' and then get to work and break the dirt for the foundation."

Mr. Preston said that the City High school was "ridiculous". He also advocated the erection of a levee, He said that among the corporations which the city has entirely outgrown was the street car system which he said was not fit for a town of 25,000 inhabitants. He advocated the formation of a citizens' committee to investigate such matters and a public corporation with a capitol of not less than $1,000,000.

Daniel Cupid, esquire, the heart pa-cifist, joined together 317 more souls with but a single thought in 1918 than he did in the year 1917. The largest month of the year just passing for the little love lord was Ausus, during which month he led to the altar 170 couples who promised to the each other for better for to take each other for better or for chancery court Friday morning by Mrs. Marion Overall Carter asking that the bonds of matrimony existing between her and her husband, Licut, James Blevins Carter, be forever and perpetually dissolved. Mrs. Ida Corney, sister of the defendant, is also named as co-defendant with Lieut. Carter, the bill charging that she had been drawing the lieutenant' allowance and was also the bench ciary of his war risk policy. Lieut Carter is assigned with the quarter master's department. Mrs. Carter is from Rutherford county, but is at present living in this city, being em-ployed by Edwards & LeBron. The complainant is represented by Fin-lay, Coffee & Campbell. The wife also asks alimony pendente litem, and at the hearing of the proceedings asks her maiden name, Marian Buford Overall, be restored. The couple have no children.

The petition stated that Lieut.
Carter and his wife were married in Rutherford county March 80, 1917, and December of the same year he deserted her and has never returned.
He has further told her that he never He has further told her that he never intends to do anything for her or to ever live with her. The complainant charges her husband was commissioned a second lieutenant in the quartermaster's department and was later made first lieutenant, with a salary of $147 per month and $45 per month for expenses. The wife charges that our of all his salary she has month for expenses. The wife charges that out of all his salary she has never received but $50. The bill further charges that Mrs. Ida Corney, sister of the defendant, has received an allowance of $95 per month to hold for the husband. It is stated Mrs. Corney has been acting in the capacity of secretary to her brother. The wife asks that a divorce be granted her, and out of the money given his sister the lieutenant be made to pay her alimony pendente litem and reasonable attorney's fees. Mrs. Carter is from a well-known Middle Tennessee family and is a young woman of unusual charm and grace.

BAKER ADVOCATES ARMY OF 500,000 VOLUNTEERS

Washington, Jan. 3.-A temporary volunteer army of 500,000 to replace the military establishment created for the war was advocated by Secretary Baker when he appeared before the house military affairs committee this afternoon. Baker said he would ask congress to authorize the organ-ization of this new army so that demobilization of America's present army could be more rapidly pushed. He added that 700,000 men had been discharged from the army since the armistice was signed and he expected 1,000,000 more to be discharged during the next five weeks.

To take up each individual case of distress on the part of families of married men still in the army. Baker declared, would serve to "slow up" the process of demobilization, which was being carried on by units. "To put one's finger on John Smith or Thomas Brown and designate him for discharge is impracticable," he asserted.

"Stop-Gap Army." This army, he said, was in the nt described as a "stop-gap which would tide over the period until peace is re-established. The secretary's statement was made during a conference he sought with the committee in order to lay before it the question of disposition to be made of the artillery training camps at Columbus, Ga., Fayetteville, N. C., and West Point, Ky. He said it was necessary that a decision be reached as to whether these sites were to be purchased for permanent camps, and he was unwilling to proceed without the advice of congress.

On the supposition that the convention of 1915 between France, Great Britain and Russia regarding Asia Minor and other matters affecting relations between entente powers must have been communicated to the Italian government, it is not apprehended there will be any serious conflict of official views.

It is pointed out that the whole eastern question is difficult of early solution.
